Arizona's state flag has a star with a blue half on the bottom and yellow+red lines going into it.

Arizona

Arizona has large mountains plus it is right by california and nevada.

Arizona has breath taking views with cactus and many other things scattered all over the mountains.

my trips to Arizona :)

I've gone to Arizona numerous times. Two to be exact. But every time it seems to change as I get older. I remember going when I was five. And I just went over spring break. I remember going to my aunts wedding and stepping on a tarantula. It was really cool but freaky because I hadn't ever seen one before,again I was five.

On spring break went and saw Indian ruins,a rattlesnake and my cousins.

We picked citrus from their trees and then we went and saw Devils Bridge. Its a nature made structure made of rock across a 150 foot drop, but it's safer than you think. That's my place that feels good to me. Arizona is my special place. p.s I recommend going there over the summer. :)
